

Deciding on Senior Housing Options

When considering your ideal retirement lifestyle, there are countless options to consider when it comes to your place of residence. You can stay in your long-term home, but that could lead to expensive renovations and a lack of a contingency plan should your healthcare needs change. A 55+ community may be an option, but you're still responsible for housework and healthcare services may not be readily available to you.

That's where a CCRC comes in. A continuing care retirement community (CCRC) offers you the ideal retirement lifestyle. You'll have everything you need to lead an active, engaging life now filled with all the things you love, with a plan in place for your future. At The Moorings at Lewes, a Springpoint CCRC, we offer the opportunity for you to live the best life you can.

Discover Distinguished Senior Living at The Moorings at Lewes

When people first consider a move to a senior living community, they may think they are making a move towards less independence. At The Moorings at Lewes, we show that isn't the case. Resident Ron Gerber shares, “By making the decision to move to a full-service retirement community early, you have choices. If you wait too long to make a move, the choices may not be available. You are actually exercising your independence by making the decision to be here.”
